Korean Government To Deal With War Criminals

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(INS)—The United States plans today to let the Korean government deal with the war criminals responsible for atrocities against South Korean and other United Nations forces.

Thus far only a few minor offenders against civilized practice in warfare have been caught. But it is assumed that some of the major war criminals will be apprehended before the fighting is over.

The process of setting up a tribunal for a trial of the offenders will have to be decided in the future. The U. S. however, is determined that those guilty of tor-

Report South Korean Troops Face New Foe

U.S. Officers See Possibility Red Chinese In Battle

By IRVING R. LEVINE
(I. N. S. War Correspondent)

SEOUL, Oct. 27.—A South Korean general said today China has hurled 40,000 troops into North Korea and U. S. intelligence officers termed it a "strong possibility" that Chinese Communist troops now are fighting below the Manchurian border.

These assertions came as elements of two South Korean divisions northeast of Pyongyang fought bitterly to break out of traps sprung by what field dispatches described as a full division of Chinese Red troops.

At the southwest end of the United Nations front, British Commonwealth troops broke through stubborn resistance by North Korean Communist forces at Pakchon, 48 miles above Pyongyang.

Push Toward Frontier

Tank-led Australian and British soldiers of the 27th Commonwealth Brigade, pacing the U. . 24th In- Brigade, pacing the U. S. 24th Infantry Division in a push toward the frontier cities of Sinuiju and Sakchu, drove 25 miles northwest from Pakchon to Kusang. There they stood within 33 miles of Manchuria's Yalu river boundary.

The statement that 40,000 troops of China's Red army have been sent across the Yalu into North Korea was made by Maj. Gen. Yu Jae Heung, commander of the ROK (Republic of Korea) Second Corps.

He identified the foreign expedition as Communist China's 40th Army Corps and said some of these troops have been thrown into battle near Unsan, 63 miles above Pyongyang.

An American KMAG (Korean Military Advisory Group) officer quoted prisoners taken from the new Red troops as saying Soviet

Government Awaits Effect Of Latest Control Orders

By EDWIN HOFFMAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 — The government sat back today to see how the nation will take the most stringent control measures ordered since World War II.

The measures hit the public in a soft spot—amusement and recreation—and control authorities plan to observe results of the "entertainment" construction ban and curtailment of radio and television production before ordering further restrictions.

Most Sweeping To Date

In its most sweeping defense-conservation order to date, the National Production Administration prohibited the construction—effective today—of new buildings for amusement or recreational purposes including theaters, dance halls, night clubs, race tracks and bowling alleys.

The NPA — the government's "control" machine—is rapidly moving into high gear in its efforts to carry out a 30 billion dollar rearmament program by clamping a lid on civilian consumption.

Administrator William H. Harrison warned that other types of construction which do not con-

Urgent Defense Plan For Europe Is Laid Down

Still Speculate On Gen. Eisenhower As Commander

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The North Atlantic military chiefs laid down an "urgent" European defense blueprint today, specifying immediate appointment of a supreme commander and the forces to be supplied by each country.

The recommendation of the Atlantic pact military committee will be considered by the defense ministers of the eleven nations when they meet in Washington tomorrow.

Program Kept Secret

Details of the program were kept secret, but it was made clear there would be no loss of time in approving the creation of a supreme commander and a European defense headquarters to meet the threat of Communist aggression.

One authoritative estimate was that the organization would be operating by January 1.

The decision for a supreme commander renewed speculation that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who comes to Washington tomorrow,

Huge Yalu River Power Dam Is Battle Prize

TOKYO, Oct. 27.—(INS)—A huge Yalu river dam that feeds electric power into communist Manchuria, Korea and Russian Siberia is the prize for which United Nation and North Korean red forces are battling tonight.

The dam, bigger than Hoove dam, lies 40 miles upstream from the Manchurian city of Antung and is capable of generating 460,000 kilowatts per hour. It's capture by UN forces would seriously damage the communist industrial program in Manchuria and reduce the amount of electric power which the Russians have for Siberia.

Built by Japanese

Industrial Dairen, Russian-controlled port in southern Manchuria, would lose its main source of electric supply and Mukden. Manchuria's largest city, would be crippled if the Suiho dam power was cut off.

Commander Of Legion Speaks

Joseph McCracken Is Guest Of County Posts

Addressing over 150 members of the American Legion posts of Lawrence county, at the sixth annual state commander's banquet, held in the Cathedral Thursday evening under the auspices of the county committee, Department Commander Joseph McCracken of Kingston, Pa., told his hearers that the American Legion is still committed to the policies outlined in the original preamble to the constitution of the American Legion which was adopted in 1918.

Legionnaires are also committed to the precept that each member shall perform his full duties as an American citizen.

Reiterates Policies

The program of the American Legion calls for rehabilitation of the disabled, and their families in adversity; the education of their children, a vital program of Americanism, adequate hospitalization for veterans, the proposal that profit be taken out of war, and an adequate national defense.

In these things, the Legion has not deviated from its course adopted 32 years ago. In addition, the

Speed Up In Draft Calls Is Indicated

By DARRELL GARWOOD
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The armed forces flashed a "full speed ahead" signal on the draft today while making plans to demobilize about a half-million reservists within the next year.

Draftees are to be required in increasing numbers to replace reservists and to build the military forces from two million, one hundred thousand men toward the three million-man goal.

Defense officials said the draft rate may go to 100,000 or more per month under policies announced late yesterday for army, navy and air force reserves.

To Discontinue Call-ups

The air force said flatly that it will discontinue immediately the call-up of enlisted reserves, while the army and navy indicated they will put the same policy into effect more gradually.

Their statements were drawn up in compliance with Defense Secretary Marshall's orders to give reservists four to six months' notice on whether they will be called up, and to see that they are kept on duty involuntarily only until they can be replaced by draftees or by voluntary means.

Army Secretary Pace said the return to civilian life of the National Guard and organized reserve units now on duty "probably can be started next summer, but may not be completed before early 1952".

Plane With Four Aboard Feared Lost

(BULLETIN)

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 27.—(INS)—An air force twin-engine T-7 trainer plane with four persons aboard was "assumed lost" today near New Orleans and may have crashed into foggy Lake Pontchartrain.

Air rescue officers at Montgomery, Ala., said a flight plan filed when the plane left New Orleans at 3 a. m. (EST) indicated it had enough fuel to last five or six hours. The lost plane was due at Craig Field at Selma, Ala., at 4:30 a. m.

A B-29 is searching the route the plane was to have followed to Selma to aid ground search crews.

Air rescue officers said two C-47's also will join the search.

Coast Guard surface and air craft awaited lifting of a "zero visibility" fog to launch a search.

First report of the possible crash came from New Orleans police. They received a telephone report from lake front residents that a plane was heard taking off, and then the motors suddenly went silent.

U.S. Steel To Answer Today On Pay Raise

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27.—(INS)—The U. S. Steel corporation replies today to demands by the CIO-United Steelworkers for a "very healthy and substantial" pay increase.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO and the steel union, handed his 1950 demands to John Stephens, U. S. Steel vice president at a meeting in Pittsburhg last Oct. 16.

Since then, big steel has had the union's proposals under study.

Out of the return conference today between company and union bargainers may come an indication of what U. S. Steel is prepared to pay, if anything.

An offer, if there is one and it is acceptable to Murray, likely would set the pattern for the union's nearly a million members employed in 1,400 basic and fabricating steel plants throughout the nation.

U.N. Is Urged To Drop Diplomatic Boycott On Spain

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 27—(INS)—A powerful Latin-American coalition called on the U. N. special political committee today to withdraw the U. N. boycott against diplomatic relations with Spain.

The drive to revoke the 1946 ban against the Madrid government was sparked by the Dominican Republic, which placed the Spanish issue on the agenda of the fifth U. N. assembly.

The United States will support the move to free U. N. members to open or resume relations with Spain on the basis of Secretary Acheson's statement in 1949 that recognition of a government does not imply approval of its internal policies.

Reformation Sunday

(Contributed)

A Protestant has four main reasons for being a part of the Reformation movement.

First, he accepts the Bible as the sole authority of his life.

Secondly, he recognizes through this Bible that the Protestant church is the original Apostolic Church as it was created by our Lord, Jesus Christ.

In the third place, he believes in the doctrine of justification by faith. We are not saved by doing penance or righteous acts, but by the saving power and grace of Jesus Christ.

And finally, he believes in the priesthood of all believers. The Protestant knows that he stands alone before God and that no person stands between him and God. Democracy was born from this ideal.

The free school system came out of this emphasis on the freedom and worth of the invidual. This freedom of conscience protects not only individuals but also minorities, denounces all kinds of persecution.

KOREAN GOVERNMENT TO DEAL WITH WAR CRIMINALS

turing and slaughtering captured troops shall not go free.

May Set Up Processes

It is believed probable that the United Nations will be called in to set up the processes for trying and punishing the criminals.

U. S. officials are astonished at the excessive number of instances of war rule violations committed during the course of what is a minor military engagement.

From the very start of hostilities there have been reports of U. S. and South Korean prisoners of war being tied up and shot.

These atrocities are expected to force the U. S. to demand trials of any captured war criminals.

The Koreans themselves, however, are believed to be the chief complainants. Their soldiers have fared as badly, if not worse, than other captured U. N. troops.

In addition, the Koreans are likely to be angered by the slaughter of hundreds of political prisoners. These, who had been in jail for disagreeing with the Communist regime, were sealed in caves and suffocated near Pyongyang before the Reds were driven out of the city.

3. Provided for the establishment of scheduled programs calling for the production and delivery of steel by individual firms and manufacturers.

carried out raids against Viet Minh fortified villages in the vicinity of Dinhlap and Phulangthoung.

Abut 100 rebels were reported killed yesterday in local operations in the Red river delta.

Aircraft and artillery also hammered away at the guerrillas in the Eat Tongking delta area.

The French at the same time reinforced Dinhlap, an important frontier post facing China's Kwangsi province.

Navy marines and parachutists were landed, meanwhile, at Cumy, on the coast 50 miles east of Saigon, where they destroyed a large number of Viet Minh sampans.

JAPANESE PEACE TREATY

Three years of prodding by the United States were unsuccessful in bringing Russia around to the point where she would consent to discuss a peace treaty for Japan across a conference table. Now, the State Department's Dulles says, Malik will "listen" to what the U. S. diplomats have to say.

Things have now progressed to the point where State Department emissaries feel real good if Russian Reds, who are given the run of the United States on the pretext that they are attending United Nations sessions, condescend to talk to them!

The proposed draft of the Japanese peace treaty has already been circulated among the 11 nations which were at war, by word or deed, with Japan. The U. S. draft proposes that no restrictions be placed on Jap rearmament, or on her economic and commercial affairs. The United States also proposes to administer Okinawa, Iwo Jima and the Bonin and Ryukyu chains. Washington also wants to keep bases there.

Pressure for a treaty has been strong in this country and in Japan for some time. Knowing Russia's cynical regard for the "welfare" of enemies of the Allies in World War II, it is incomprehensible that Russia would accept any treaty that didn't include complete evacuation of that country by the U. S. and so weaken that country economically and militarily that it would fall to Russia very soon.

Why Russia should be consulted at all about a Japanese treaty is not clear. When the United States was winning the war against Japan, Russia was neutral and, in fact, interned U. S. fliers who were forced down on Russian territory while attacking Japan.

FLIGHT FROM FREEDOM

Not all of the facts concerning the disappearance of Bruno Pontecorvo, the naturalized British atomic scientist who has not been seen on this side of the iron curtain since September 2, are clear. For example, he may be in Moscow or he may not. But it is certain he has been lost to sight of free men.

The story of Bruno Pontecorvo's journey from Italy, where he had gone for a vacation after resigning from the big British atomic research center at Harwell, is fascinating and frightening. Apparently none of his friends had thought much of it when he started out with his family for Copenhagen—after all, he was to have become professor of experimental physics at Liverpool University in January. And it was not until six weeks after he had left Rome that Italian newspapers reported he had vanished.

It was possible to trace him as far as Helsinki. He and his Swedish wife and his three children had gone from Rome to Copenhagen, from Copenhagen to Stockholm, and then to the Finnish capital. They had not stopped in Stockholm, though Mrs. Pontecorvo's parents live only a 15-minute ride from the airlines office. They had gone to Helsinki without visas, and their passports were taken up. But apparently they had no further use for them. It appears they boarded a Soviet ship bound for Russia.

What Pontecorvo knew about atomic weapons is in dispute. It is not known whether he went to Russia voluntarily or by command. But there is no doubt that if he and his family are alive and in Soviet territory they have turned their backs on freedom forever.

HALLOWEEN TRAFFIC DANGERS

Halloween season is here, bringing its usual retinue of ghosts, witches, gnomes and evil spirits.

One of the hobgoblins who rears his ugly head about this time, the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council warned today, in the spectre of night driving which spirits away three out of five traffic victims.

This phantom preys especially on children during the halloween season, according to T. O. Armstrong, vice president of the safety council.

More children are on the streets after dark, engaged in pranks or "trick or treat" games. And because they're decked out in masks and other halloween frappery, they have difficulty seeing oncoming automobiles.

Motorists can's see them, either. Because colder weather means darker clothing, playing children aren't as easily spotted as they are in summer.

Drivers are warned to be on the lookout for children darting suddenly from the scenes of pranks.

Kids are liable to dash out from anywhere. They're so anxious to get away from their pranks that they run blindly into the streets.

These tips are given to halloween motorists:

1. Proceed slowly through residential areas, where children are most likely to be playing.

2. Don't drive if you're tired. Fatigue reduces alterness and ability to react quickly.

3. Warn your own children to wear something light, so they may be seen by other motorists.

A poet, enthusing over the October scene, refers to the "eyes and ears of Nature." He's probably thinking of the potato patch and the corn field.

Football, according to a magazine article, is suffering from inflation. What do they mean—"suffering?" You could not have football without inflation.

Economic Mobilizer Symington says it will be necessary for Americans to work longer hours, but he will have a hard time persuading Truman to tell the unions that.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

Fear Major French Arms Disaster

New French losses in Indo-China that appear to presage a major disaster for French arms gave renewed importance today to a statement in the National Assembly by Premier Rene Pleven.

It was largely overlooked at the time because Pleven spoke while President Truman was delivering his historic disarmament message to the United Nations at Flushing Meadow.

Pleven's statement was to the effect that France looks with favor on "periodic contacts" among the United States, Great Britain, France and Soviet Russia.

Revive Big Four

In other words, the French premier proposed obliquely that the Big Four be revived on its former basis.

And while Pleven said its main preoccupation should be with the problems of Europe, he must have been thinking long and hard of Indo-China, for every Frenchman's mind and heart are surely troubled by reverses in that valuable colony at the hands of rebellious Communist Viet Minh forces.

The Pleven statement automatically coupled itself with persistent reports from Paris that Soviet Russia is "courting" France and has proposed revival of the old Franco-Soviet pact of friendship.

This has never been voided so far as any official diplomatic cancellation has been concerned. But like so many other international commitments it fell by the wayside when the Russians decided to split the world in spiritual halves and has not even been mentioned for months.

Discount Sincerity

Shrewd observers in the French capital see anything but complete sincerity in the Russian approach.

They believe that Communist leadership is seriously concerned over the United Nations victory in Korea, not only in a purely strategic military sense but from the viewpoint of its proving that the western world is prepared to go to war against aggression.

They feel that the underlying motive in the present Russian move is a desire to weaken western unity by winning a greater degree of French friendship and thus breach the solid anti-Communist wall built up so laboriously over the last few months.

One source in Paris said that Soviet Ambassador Alexander Pavlov, during an unheralded visit to the French Foreign office, hinted that if the friendship pact were restored to a working basis, Russia would be in a position to reassure France on Many of her most worrisome problems.

At Head of List

Certainly French Indo-China stands at the head of any such list.

Germany, of course, is a constant problem. But in this respect, France has both the material and moral support of Great Britain and the United tates and has eveSry guarantee that whatever may be done regarding use or creation of German armed forces, the Republic never again will be menaced from across the Rhenish border.

It is unquestionably true that if Chinese Communists go to the support of the Indo-China Red rebels, France will immediately invoke the sanctions or armed intervention clause of the United Nations charter.

Communist leader Ho Chih Minh seems to be doing very well indeed merely with imported arms and ammunition and shows no sign of needing manpower from across the border.

Asking U. S. Assistance

For this reason, there already are reports that France is asking for United States Air Force assistance in event it becomes impossible for the hard-pressed colonials to hold out longer against the Red revolutionaries.

Premier Pleven's recommendation that the Big Four be reestablished as a going proposition is easy to understand.

It would put France in a position of being able to negotiate with the Soviets in one manner or another regarding Indo-China. While the Russians disclaim any part in the uprising and maintain, as they did in Korea, it is a civil war and a blood feud between Ho Chih Minh and former Emperor Bao Dai, no one could deny that a nod from the Kremlin whould change the whole face of things.

Certainly Russia wants the Big Four to start working again, for better or for worse. France, in its present desperation, might just conceivably supply the motive power needed.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

IF CHILD WRITES BACKWARDS

While it is hardly wise to teach the child to print or write before he enters the first grade, many little children will do some printing on their own accord as early as the age of four or five; and when they do, their parents and grandparents incline to encourage this activity too much as they suppose it is a sign that the child is very smart. It's far better that he should draw and color or paint out of his imagination without following patterns.

But if your child at the age of four or five does print some without your urging or over-encouragement, you should carefully observe the way he prints. He may print from left to right. He may make the letters backwards or upside down, or what he prints may be in correct order only as it is seen in the mirror (mirror writing). Such reversals are more likely to occur in these preschool years than later; and when they begin before school they may persist for several school years, handicapping the child painfully in his learning to read or spell.

Wanted To Write

"Dear Dr. Myers: I am writing you about my daughter age 5½ years. Some months ago she began pestering me and her father to teach her to write or print. She would practice by the hour, copying letters I wrote on her blackboard. She knows all of them apart except Z and X and a few that she seldom sees in print. She can print very well for her age and now wants to try simple arithmetic and spelling.

"Just recently she began to print from right to left and even reverses the construction of the letters. I am enclosing a sample cut from her color book. I don't know if it's just a phase, but it seems odd she would just begin doing this lately when she has made them correctly for six months or more.

"I haven't tried to push her or even suggest her learning these things now. I have only helped when she asked and praised her efforts.

"She also walks in her sleep and is high strung and sensitive.

"I read to her quite a lot, but I have to be very careful in my choice because she'll cry her eyes out over things in the stories, such as Goldilocks getting lost, etc.

"I have heard that this transposing of letters is sometimes a sign that something's wrong emotionally, and with her other quirks I'm really beginning to wonder."

Emotional Instability

In part here is how I answered this mother: It is highly probable that your child's reversals in printing are somewhat related to her emotional instability. Certainly anything you can do to provide this child with a more serene family atmosphere and program should help her follow your suggestions and samples of printing in the correct order. I sent her my bulletin "The Nervous Child" to be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.

Whatever the cause of the reversals, there's no magic cure. But cure can come gradually as the child is induced to practice printing only in the right direction. Of course, you and dad will have to be very skillful and persuasive to win her cooperation. Ideally, she should never print except under the guidance of one of you. Also, you might well encourage her occasionally to draw squares and triangles from copy. Better still, if you could have her print some letters and words on a typewriter. It always moves from left to right.

Often, as you read to this child, run your finger under the words and phrases from left to right as they are read. A few of the children's magazines have a good features for preventing and correcting reversals.

Too bad you have stimulated this child so much in her printing. Try to divert her interest from arithmetic and spelling. Most of all, this child needs to have more fun at normal play with other children her age.

WASHINGTON—President Truman: "We are not too proud to fight and we never have been in the past."

INDIANAPOLIS — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower on reports he would be appointed supreme commander of western defense forces: "I am a soldier and they can send me any place they want to."

NEW YORK—W. Stuart Symington, chairman of the National Securities Resources Board: "If we do not first attain, and then maintain, adequate strength there will be a war, and America is sure to lose it and go from defeat to slavery. Strength in this age, strength for ourselves and our allies, is by far the best way to avoid war."

DETROIT—Henry Ford II: "Inflation hurts everybody. Among other things a continuing inflationary trend would require widening government control of our economy, perhaps for a long time."

MEN

Men are all that women say.
Selfish with their joys.
Always running off to play
Just like little boys.

Ducks and geese are flying now
Over lake and bay.
Many a man is wondering how
He can spend three days away

With the season for the deer,
Anxious for his "one"
Many a man will disappear,
To the north woods gone.

Men at heart are little boys
Sports will lure to roam;
Always craving selfish joys
Taking them from home.

In less than two weeks you will have the opportunity to use one of your greatest powers . . . the right to vote for the candidate that you think is best qualified to represent you in our Federal Government . . . and since it is that time of the year . . . many questions are floating around concerning the present administration . . . not that the head of our government can be changed at this time . . . but because the issues concerning the President do mean something to the men who will be sitting in Congress . . . on both sides, the House and the Senate.

What happened to the $95 billion spent on national defense since World War II? Why did only $1 out of every seven defense dollars go for combat equipment between 1946 and 1950?

Looking toward Korea . . . we all know that communism is a menace to the world . . . and we knew that it was a menace working in Asia before the outbreak of this war . . . if we agree with this thinking, then why did we only have 6 General Pershing tanks, about 30 propellate combat planes and only 1 aircraft carrier in the Japanese area when we entered the Korean Conflict?

Twenty-seven days before President Truman committed American troops to the Korean struggle he told "we, the people" that we were closer to a permanent peace "than any time in the past five years"?

These questions are not local questions . . . but questions that are being asked throughout the land . . . Who can answer them? That perhaps is the greatest question of them all . . . Test Still To Come In India

JAIPUR, India, Oct. 27.—Down a broad avenue thronged on both sides with humanity comes a circus parade that no sane circus owner would even dare to dream about. It is the procession of Dussehara, which is part of the ancient Hindu ceremonial that takes place annually at harvest time.

First come the elephants richly caparisoned with silver, brilliant scarlet, and gold cloth. Their trunks, heads and ears are painted in designs traditional with each individual mahout. On the most massive elephant of all is a solid gold howdah.

Then come the ceremonial carts, many of them 300 to 400 years old, done in red and green velvet embroidered with gold. Each is pulled by four white bullocks also in ceremonial coverings.

Next in line is a regimental band in uniforms of blue and red, with red and gold turbans having gold pompons. Then there are more elephants.

Rides His Highness

Toward the end of the procession in an open carriage of state rides his highness the Mahrarjah of Jaipur. He wears a long blue and silver brocaded coat with huge diamond buttons made by cartier. His red turban also bears a great diamond ornament. He carries one of the fabulous treasures of Jaipur—a ceremonial sword and scabbard, the hilt of which is almost solidly encrusted with diamonds and emeralds. Immediately behind him is a troop of household cavalry wearing white uniforms with gold facings and blue and silver turbans. Each cavalryman rides a black horse.

As the light fades from the sky this still-flowing procession with its camels richly garbed seems like a mirage out of the past. It is what is left of feudal India and is rapidly passing out. The Maharajah's house guests all agree wistfully that the dussehara procession this year is "nothing like it was in the good old days."

The 41-year-old Maharajah is no longer the absolute monarch in his inherited principality of Jaipur. He is now the governor of a province that includes Jaipur and 21 other princely states, among them Jodhpur, Bikaner and Udaipur.

This is the solution by which the princely states merged with the central government. The British, who played the princely rulers off against each other and against the independence movement, said that it would never be done short of a century of bloodshed and war. Now, on paper at least, it has been accomplished with the central administration in New Delhi, having taken over.

Test Is Still To Come

But many feel the test is still to come. Critics say that the areas that have been combined in the new states are too large, considering the primitive transportation and communications.

They also raise the question about power and efficiency now that the old absolutism has been arbitarily abolished.

There is still unsolved the issue of large landowners who formerly had a semi-autonomous status under their princely rulers. In the new state of Rajasthan, which is governed by the Maharajah of Jaipur, they still possess their land although they have been largely shorn of their power.

The Maharajah of Jaipur is working hard at his job, although there are many features about it that are new and alien to him. His chief interest is soldiering. He is commander of the army for Rajasthan, with the rank of lieutenant general. This is a most important function since Rasasthan has a 600-mile border with Pakistan and there are constant border incidents.

The troops in this area are largely deployed in the wild desert region adjoining the border, making much use of camels since water is sometimes 40 miles from an encampment. They seem like thoroughly trained soldiers. For the dessehara they put on their weekend ceremony of trooping their colors, and this was magnificently done and reminiscent of India and Kipling in the great days of the empire. Both the foot soldiers and the cavalry moved with the precision of British guards through intricate maneuvers while the Maharajah sat statuelike on a white Arabian stallion taking a salute of honor as the soldiers marched past.

Still Young Looking

The Maharajah is still young looking, with an infectious gaiety that is known in Paris, London and New York. Next to soldiering he is keenest about polo and is the new president of the India Polo Association.

When he stood with his beautiful Maharanee on the portico of the city palace, the guard was drawn up while the band played the Jaipur anthem. The musicians faced the guests who stood on a floodlighted lawn that is claimed to be the most perfect in the world. It was somehow an almost incredible sight. This brilliant reception, which is part public and part private, was the past taking a long step into the present and perhaps, with good luck, into the future.

But it is such a very long step that whether it can be safely made short of disintegration and perhaps breakdown is in the lap of the gods. And in the lap, it may be, of the gods of the dussehara ceremony. For as a kind of final touch from beyond the sweep of the floodlights, beyond the trees gaily illuminated with colored lights and beyond the walls enclosing the palace gardens comes the sound of chanting voices from the Hindu temple.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

Well, you can't say we don't try 'em all...We tried 1930 with no money and that wasn't good, now in 1950 the government says too much money isn't any good either.

But this too much money isn't such a problem...Gosh, any government can figure out ways to take money from a taxpayer much easier than it can figure out ways to give him some.

So we ought to have this inflation under wraps quicker than you can say "look out...she's startin' to get flat!"

Mr. Truman's chief economic council advisor says all we need is another still bigger tax increase as fast as we can get it and it will cut our purchasing power before it creates inflation.

There's no exact name for the program but I think it's known as the "you make it we take it" project.

Under this program the government takes money you might spend in a foolhardy manner on yourself and spends it for you in the wisest way possible...Say buying up butter.

That may raise the price of butter a little and dig into your envelope a little but at the end of each day you can be thankful you've been saved from having enough to buy a house or a new car.

Presidential Choice

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—Army beat Harvard last Saturday in a football game, but we don't know as yet whether MacArthur beat Acheson, or vice versa, at Wake Island.

The outcome of this latter tussle, between a West Pointer and a Harvardman, is possibly the most vital aspect of America's world policy. Is President Truman going to use brawn or brain to stop Communism in Asia? Is he going to rely chiefly on police action or on sweet reasonableness? Is he to use the methods employed by MacArthur in Korea and Japan or is he going to return to the Acheson plan of watchful waiting and economic aid that prevailed before last June 25th?

Difference In Viewpoint

This is not too much of a simplification of the President's choice. The difference in viewpoint between the General and the Secretary is a polemic difference. There can hardly be a compromise between the viewpoints. It seems almost inevitable that the MacArthur principle must obliterate the Acheson theory, or that the two must nullify each other and leave us—which would be disastrous—with no real Asian policy at all. For look how the two men—that is to say, the two viewpoints—must appear to the President's mind.

MacArthur, a military realist and a Far Eastern expert, is Mr. Police Action himself. It's the General's belief that, since we are in fact conquerors, we should behave with the dignity and authority of conquerors at least for the immediate future. The Far Eastern people, MacArthur has said many times, understand this attitude. And they do not understand anything less subtle or anything in between.

Ought To Be Proof Of That

There is nothing in the MacArthur attitude that is at odds with ordinary decency and humanity toward people. His five-year reign in Japan ought to be proof enough of that. If MacArthur has not brought liberalism (in the State Department's use of the term) to Japan, he has nevertheless brought stability and nationalism-minus-imperialism. Right here, MacArthur has hit upon the desire that seems to be common to all Asian peoples. They can wait for liberalism, but they can't wait for nationalism. It seems to be an Oriental paradox—discernible in India, Indonesia and possibly in China—that nationalism is more important than nutrition, that political stability and independence are actually valued above economic stability and human life.

Paradox Is Not Accepted

Acheson, and the whole school of world welfare thinking do not accept this paradox as a Far Eastern fact. The Harvard man poured economic aid into Korea but removed the stabilizing effect of American occupation troops. In a burst of liberalism he ordained that Korea lay outside the perimeter of American military influence. But the removal of stability did not strengthen nationalism in Korea. It almost destroyed nationalism.

Acheson, to do him full justice, has been consistenly right about European affairs, even though the record is against him in Asian matters. This European-mindedness could explain a good deal of his failure to grasp the Far Eastern problem. Only last week he consented to arming France so that this far-from-stable European partner could carry on a war in Indo-China. Acheson has several times half-consented to the British policy of making a diplomatic arrangement with Communist China. If his Asian policies are hard for the rest of us to understand, it must be because they are not understandable. To all appearances Acheson has been trying to put a European head on an Asian horse. This may be a commendable exercise in One Worldism, but thus far the Kipling estimate of the East-West problem still stands up. Never the twain shall meet.

Doesn't Solve President's Dilemma

Acheson, of course, is Secretary of State and MacArthur isn't. But this does not quite solve President Truman's dilemma. A much more pertinent fact is that MacArthur is a Far Eastern expert, and Acheson isn't. The most pertinent fact of all is that East isn't West.

So when we say that Mr. Truman must eventually recognize the unbridgeable difference between the MacArthur and Acheson viewpoints, we are also saying that he must recognize the unbridgeable difference between Europe and Asia. This does not mean that we have one foreign policy with two or more methods of expression. The single purpose of the single foreign policy is to protect America. It is not to feed people, to baptize or even to sell democracy. A lot of Americans are beginning to think that the West Pointer understands this better than the Harvardman does. Mr. Truman apparently still thinks otherwise, but perhaps he will change his mind. He's changed it several times before.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

"The country is going to the dogs."

"We are degenerating."

"Our morals are all shot."

"Our ideals have disappeared. We have become a nation of materialists."

Complaints like these come to me in the mail almost every day.

One fellow in Hammond, Ind., even writes that he is ashamed of being an American.

All that kind of talk is a lot of unjustified pessimism.

The whole trouble with us is that we are and have been for many years on a glorious drunk.

We are drunk with prosperity.

I know darn well that a lot of my readers will now write in and tell me that they are not prosperous.

They will holler that their husbands don't make enough money, that prices are going up, that they can't buy shoes, etc., etc., etc., etc.

But even in ancient Rome, which finally went down in a morass of ease, luxury and wealth, there was a percentage of Romans who were poor.

That does not prove anything. It is the overall picture that counts.

Look at the enormous number of telephones in our country. The phone company has just announced that it needs another billion dollars for expansion, that close to a million people are still waiting for their phones.

Look at the almost unbelievable growth of the television industry. Look at the roads jammed with automobiles. Look at the millions of time and labor saving appliances in millions of American homes. Look at all the women with diamond rings, mink coats, two-hundred dollar gowns.

Look at the luxury liners on land, sea and in the air, loaded with passengers. Look at the night clubs, de luxe hotels and resorts with their waiting lines of people anxious to spend their money.

Look at the divorce courts with their overcrowded calendars—and if anything on earth is a sign of too much prosperity, it is the divorce court.

It is an age-old human characteristic to spend money when one has it.

And the more money one spends the flabbier, the softer, the weaker one becomes. Prosperity and obesity are step-sisters.

But that does not mean perdition.

We are not habitual drunkards.

We are just having our fling.

It's all very well to praise our ancestors and hold them up as an example.

Would they have been any better than we are if they had had all the luxuries and all the wealth of the present age at their beck and call? Did they endure hardships because they wanted to or because they had to?

I for one am not worried about the America, or our Americans, of today.

Whether in sports, in business or on the battlefield—the spirit of 1776 is still alive.

Whenever the necessity arises I am sure we'll sober up in a jiffy. That was proven in 1918, 1942, 1950.

America may carry the loaded wallet in one pocket. But she carries the loaded gun in the other.

Prints Book On Turnpike

Famous Toll Road Book Is Published

HARRISBURG, Oct. 27.—(INS)—Penelope Redd Jones, wife of Pennsylvania turnpike Commissioner Edward N. Jones, is selling a book on the story of the famous toll road . . The copywright makes no reference to Jones' position with the turnpike . . . The book contains maps, pictures and colored illustrations and running story of the highway . . . Mrs. Jones credits President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Gov. James H. Duff as the men responsible for building the toll road . . . "It might well be hailed as the Roosevelt-Duff highway," Mrs. Jones writes.

Vice President Alben W. Barkley made apparent at a Harrisburg news conference that he doesn't intend to cram high policy down the throats of his listeners on his nationwide tour to aid Democratic candidates . . . The jovial "Veep" cracked a few stories and in between times came up with stock answers to newsmen's questions . . . Barkley's political adeptness is popular with county workers . . . Topping off his flying visit to Harrisburg was a well planned motorcade which sped through the industrial town of Steelton at the evening rush hour and then rolled through Harrisburg and lines of halted cars past the state capital as thousands of Republican capital workers were en route home.

The Republican state committee is making a play for the support of thousands of Pennsylvania's school teachers . . . State Senator Paul L. Wagner of Schukylkill county, chairman of the Duff-Fine teachers' committee, has sent a letter to each teacher recording the accomplishments of the GOP in public education . . . "Salary schedules, retirement programs, financial aid to school districts and school plant offerings are among the best in the land," Wagner writes . . . "The Duff administration," it adds, "has given the people of Pennsylvania a "go forward, do something leadership' " . . . Then Wagner tells the teachers that former Judge John S. Fine already has promised to increase teachers' pay and retirement benefits if elected governor . . . Wagner closes with this intimate message: "You and I believe in this sound outlook; let's you and I assure their election by working for those who worked for us."

Deaths on Pennsylvania highways are showing a steady increase, the Bureau of Highway Safety reports . . . August with 168 motor fatalities topped July's total by 11 . . . Of these, 134 were on rural roads and 34 in city streets compared to 86 in the country and 41 in the city in August, 1949 . . . For the first eight months of 1950, 945 persons were killed, with 592 rural deaths and 353 urban against 596 rural and 380 urban for the first eight months of last year.

Around Hollywood

By JAMES PADGITT

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 27.—Actor Steve Cochran, who was the male love interest for Mae West in the stage's "Diamond Lil", contended today that dancing has no bearing at all on romance.

Steve cannot dance a step and he has found that it has not cramped his popularity with the ladies

Steven, who has clinched with such beauties as Joan Crawford and Ruth Roman in the flickers, says he is the original guy with two left feet. And he suspects that maybe this is a good thing for his love interests.

As the Bon Vivant puts it:

"If I shook a rambunctious rhumba, I'd have to spend most of my time on the dance floor. But I can't—so I can concentrate on my gal. Give her my full attentions, you know.

"I would much rather waltz with words. To me, it's much easier to promote a romance with words—and much more effective."

Little Black Book

The handsome husky has a little black book of the names and numbers of Hollywood's loveliest, including Yvonne DeCarlo, Pat Neal and Dorothy Hart. And he testifies that all these cuties are good talkers—and listeners.

Steve contends that a guy can accomplish a lot more by sparing his wind on the hardwood and spending it in murmuring sweet somethings in milady's ear.

Therefore he pooh-poohs those 10 lessons that send you walking into a dance teacher's studio and dancing out. He will leave the fleet-footed fantasy to Fred Astaire and Gene Kelly.

Know Webster

If a gal wants to rate with Cochran, she can throw away her dancing shoes and brush up on her Webster's. Steve thinks music was invented for background to intimate tete-a-tetes, not for a frantic scramble and high-kicking Charleston.

He added:

"Sure, some women look at me horrified when I admit that I can't make with the feet. But most of these are exhibitionists anyway and definitely not marriage material.

"Oh, yes, I'll probably get married some day. But I'm looking for a femme who won't mind sitting out the next one and the next and the next."

Beginning of the canning industry was inspired by an offer by Napoleon of 12,000 francs to anyone who could devise a way of preserving food for his army. Chef Nicholas Appert claimed the reward.

Large Crowd Hears Laughton

Famous Screen Star Thrills His College Audience

Appearance of Charles Laughton at Westminster college Thursday night attracted an unusually large audience. The college chapel was completely filled and some 300 persons are reported as being unable to get in.

As the hour for the program arrived, the famous screen star was ushered in with no ceremony. He needed no introduction; his show was complete with—simply Charles Laughton.

Laughton, who has been over three years appearing on college campuses, flung test readings to the audience in order to discover a particular mood or vein in which to direct his readings.

He taunted the American college youth's interest in the practical course, specifically business and engineering, by reading a poem useful to the student of literature. The theme concerned a youth's pursuing a maid.

His readings and recitals were directed to fit the local, light and gay mood.

Some Shakespeare Scenes

His excerpts from a scene in Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream," in which an amateur cast was being chosen by an inexperienced director, included an actor's desire to play a variety of parts. This almost of necessity brought an aside from Laughton, who has been called upon to play dozens of screen parts, "No cracks please."

'Mutiny on the Bounty'

It was natural that a request for some part of "Mutiny on the Bounty" would arise and Laughton as the villainous Captain Bligh complied.

He protested (aside), however, that whenever he seemed touchy or restless at home, his wife would remind him that he was no longer Captain Bligh.

Laughton ended his program with his interpretation of what he termed the greatest piece of English prose. "Lincoln's Gettysburg Address."

Mr. Laughton arrived from Kent State college and will appear next at Wooster college. His company included only those persons necessary to complete business arrangements.

Says 28th Will Be One Of Best In U.S. Army

CAMP ATTERBURY, Ind., Oct. 27.—(INS)—The 28th Infantry Division ought to be one of the "best infantry divisions in the U. S. Army" when it completes training.

That is the opinion of Maj. Gen. J. W. O'Daniel, infantry training inspector for the Army field forces, after an inspection of the "Keystone" Division yesterday.

Gen. O'Daniel told grade officers of the 28th, commanded by Maj. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler, the division was fortunate to have a great number of World War II combat officers and men.

"It is the man on the ground that wins the war," Gen. O'Daniel said. Recently returned from Russia where he was military attache in Moscow for 2½ years, he added:

"The Russians apply all the principals of combat to their training. They consider war a continuous thing. Anything is fair to gain an objective."

For that reason he urged rigid training of U. S. soldiers.

Erie Restrained From Enforcing Anti-Red Law

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27.—(INS) The city of Erie was restrained today from enforcing its anti-Communist ordinance until its constitutionality is tested by the courts.

Judge James A. Fee, in an opinion handed down late yesterday in Federal District Court in Pittsburgh, ruled that the ordinance places an "unreasonable burden on transaction of interstate commerce."

He found that enforcement of the ordinance would also cause "irreparable losses" to the international workers order.

The organization, listed as subversive by the the attorney general, had petitioned the court for an injunction against the law on the grounds it was an industrial insurance society.

Judge Fee ruled that the IWO's business of selling insurance would be ruined if the organization was forced to obey the law. The ordinance requires registration of all Communists as well as stamping as subversive all literature sent out by any group listed by the attorney general.

"It would require a man with a heart bound with triple bronze to sign an application for membership or (an insurance) policy stamped as required," the order read.

"These deterents to doing business in competition with other insurance companies placed under no such duty by the ordinance require no further proof of irreparable damage," the court ruled.

Babson Discusses Profit Sharing For Pensions

(Copyright—1950—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

BABSON PARK, Mass., Oct. 27 —If an employee, are you looking for an adequate reward for your individual initiative? If an employer, do you want to increase employee cooperation and at the same time have an effective weapon against unwise welfare-isms? In either case study profit sharing.

Roger W Babson

We read lots in our papers about what is wrong with management. Seldom, however, do we read about what is right with management, primarily because management remains so unvocal. Management has a great story if it would only tell it!

There are today hundreds of companies across the country with profit-sharing plans for wages. Their records indicate that companies with the profit-sharing philosophy generally do not have strikes. Rather, they are noted for their good morale, high production record and greater profits. Too often, however, they are protected by patents or "goodwill" which give them a special advantage.

Small Business and Profit Sharing

With continually increasing wages the small business is especially vulnerable in hard times with the average pension plan. In general, pension plans are not flexible enough for small business because management must continue to pay whether times are good or bad. Further, there is unhappily, little evidence that employees wtih guaranteed pensions are any more productive than employees without pensions.

Uninterrupted production is especially important to the small business owner, and such an owner can well consider profit sharing for wages. This gives the employee one of the best incentives to produce, because the employee can readily see that greater production in the plan means more cash in his pay envelope as well as a good financial anchor in old age. Greater production necessitates greater teamwork not only with fellow workers; it brings about closer cooperation with management.

I, however, wish to especially recommend profit sharing for pension plans. Profit sharing offers small business one of the soundest ways possible to finance pensions. It takes much of the burden of the employer-paid pension from the shoulders of the small businessman. He shares his profits only when the employee has helped create those profits through high production. Employees like it too because the bigger the melon they create, the bigger the pension and the wage.

The plan would be to put all this profit-sharing money into a pension reserve to which the employer would add a certain proportion. But to make it a success each employee's pension would probably have to be different, depending upon the individual's own productivity. Such a plan can however, be applied only to a small business and where labor unions do not control.

Successful Companies

Most profit-sharing plans are for wages only, are not dependent on the productivity of the workers but depend mainly on the ability and generosity of the management. Lincoln Electric of Cleveland is one of the most generous profit-sharing companies. Last year Lincoln shared profits equaling 117 per cent of the employees' salaries, or an average of about $7200 per worker, including wages. Among other successful "profit-sharing" companies are American Velvet company, Jewell Tea Co. Proctor & Gamble, Avondale Mills, S. C. Johnson & Co., Eastman Kodak, Sears Roebuck, The Falk Corp., W. A. Sheaffer Pen Co., and the Grand Central Garage of Los Angeles.

Profit sharing is a real manifestation of the Golden Rule at work in business. If you are the owner of a small business casting about for ideas to increase your employee efficiency, cut labor turnover, reduce absenteeism, and build a greater sense of security for your workers, profit sharing may be the answer. If interested, you can write the Council of Profit Sharing Industries, Akron, O. They will try to tell you how it can be done. I, however, must remind you that most of the above illustrations have used wage profit sharing only during periods of prosperity and increasing profits. The real test will come when earnings decline and when there will be no profits. Hence, I am now recommending profit sharing only for pensions.

Authorities say it is doubtful if the turtle has changed in the las 215 million years. Reason is the protection given by the shell.

Enforcement Of Subversives Law Up To McGrath

By GLENN M. GREEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Subversive activities board chairman Seth W. Richardson put the question of speedy McCarran law enforcement squarely up to Attorney General McGrath.

The Republican chief of the new subversive activities control board said there is no reason why the justice department can't move against Red front groups without waiting for a court ruling on whether the Communist party can be branded subversive.

Richardson said:

"Of course, the attorney general may not want to (move against front groups) until the courts rule on whether the McCarran act is constitutional.

"I have had no communication with the attorney general as yet. I haven't the slightest idea how long it will take to finish the necessary proceedings under the law.

"It depends entirely on the attorney general because he must make the investigations and present the information to the board."

Richardson said that he would not attempt to organize his powerful board, which is charged with deciding whether organizations are subversive, until McGrath tells him when the justice department expects to present its first brief.

The chairman said he probably will confer with the attorney general "in a day or two".

To Ask Nations To State Arms Reduction Stand

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 27.—(INS)—India revived disarmament efforts suggested by President Truman and proposed that each U. N. member government tell the general assembly the extent of progressive arms reduction it is willing to undertake.

In a resolution drafted by Sir Benegal Rau, who presumably is taking the initiative on instructions of Prime Minister Pandit Nehru, the suggestion is outlined that the money saved through disarmament be contributed to a specially created "U. N. peace fund".

The India resolution recommends the "peace fund" be devoted to building up under-developed areas of the world in line with the so-called point four program. It stimpulates that the sixty member governments report to United Nations by next March.

Before India circulated its resolution, Britain told U. N. that Russia has an army of four million men equipped with 25,000 tanks, against which the western world is planning a unified European force of less than half that size to meet aggression.

Curtailment Of Public Housing Program Demanded

HARRISBURG, Oct. 27—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Realtors Association today demanded curtailment of the Federal Public Housing Program since Congress has imposed credit curbs on real estate.

"There has been no real effort to cut waste and unnecessary government spending," the association stated. "Such a move would do more than any credit regulations to strengthen the nation and halt inflation in these critical times."

World War II veterans who are just setting about buying or constructing homes will be most seriously affected by the real estate credit restrictions, the association said.

An association statement also predicted an abrupt recession in the private housing market and a vast pool of unemployed workers in building trades.

Ecclesian Cub Pack Has Program

A feature of the Victory Round-Up of 1950 in scouting is the national roll call and uniform inspection. The cub scouts of Ecclesian Pack 50 were officially inspected by Commissioner C. Mark Baatz and committeemen William H. Lambright, Charles J. Kelley, and A. Louis Hannon, at their regular meeting Wednesday evening. Parents of the cubs were in attendance.

The second half of the evening was devoted to the theme, "Westward Ho." Cubs donned cowboy regalia, parts of which were made at their weekly den meetings. Each boy and leader was branded on the back of his right hand with the stamp CUB as he entered the meeting room.

Charles Ziants, chairman of Boy Scout Troop 50 committee, entertained with accordion selections and accompanied the group singing.

Games in keeping with the cowboy theme were conducted by the Den Chiefs. Two new cowhands, Terry Schweikert and Paul Stanich were inducted as Bobcats.

A special award was made to Eugene Morelli, father of Cub Jeffrey Morelli by Cubmaster W. Hubert Cummings for his faithful attendance at Pack meetings and assistance in promoting cubbing.

Doughnuts and cider were served by the den mothers. The next pack meeting will be on November 29 in the Ecclesian club and the theme will be radio and television.

Says Russia Has Army Of Four Million

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 27.—Britain said Thursday that Russia has an army of four million men equipped with 25,000 tanks and told the United Nations that the western world is planning a unified European force of less than half that size to meet aggression.

In an address before the United Nations political committee, chief British delegate Kenneth Younger cautioned the German people against believing Russian charges that the establishment of a west German police force means the rebirth of German militarism.

Assails Russia

He joined the long parade of western speakers, including the delegatess of Australia, Greece Belgium and Bolivia, in assailing Russia for its post-war policies, including the communist coup in Czechoslovakia, the Berlin blockade and the Korean war.

Meanwhile, the United States summoned a general assembly meeting for Monday to extend the term of U. S. Secretary-General Trygve Lie. Soviet delegate Jacob Malik, who has already vetoed the U. S. bid to have Lie reappointed, indicated he would not press for a security council meeting on the subject before the assembly meets.

Malik told the council that Soviet opposition to Lie stems from the Norwegian's June visit to Moscow in an attempt to bridge the gap between the Soviet Union and the United States.

Among the grievances Malik cited against Lie was his alleged refusal to accept suggestions offered to him by Premier Stalin and deputy Premier Molotov about preserving world peace.

The council failed to agree on a secretary-general after two Russian-supported candidates failed to achieve the necessary majority of seven votes. The lack of support for the pair spared the United States from its announced intention to use the veto.

New Phone Books In Mail Monday

Distribution of new telephone directories will start here next Monday and is expected to be completed by November 4, it was announced today by Nathan N. Jaquish, local manager of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania.

Approximately 23,250 copies of the new grey-covered books will be delivered by mailmen in this area, Mr. Jaquish said. This is an increase of approximately 1,500 over last year's distribution.

The new books contain approximtaely 20,200 alphabetical listings and increase of 1,300. There are also 5,300 classified 'business and professional listings, an increase of 250.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

In Hollywood, Jimmy Durante was one star who obdurately refused to allow any ghost writer to hack out his "autobiography." "Everybody knows what I does to the English language," he explained to Maurice Zolotow. "When I goes to woik on an infinitive, brother, I don't just split it. I breaks it up in little pieces."

A worried merchant sought the aid of a psychiatrist, explaining, "You've got to help me! All day long I want to eat grapes." "So what?" scoffed the analyst. "Everybody eats grapes." The merchant gasped, "What? Off the wallpaper?"

To the doctor in residence at a summer hotel came a boarder suffering from severe fright. "I saw a big snake on the ground, but it turned out to be a stick," he reported. "So why are you still frightened?" asked the doctor. "You didn't let me finish my story," reproached the boarder. "The stick I picked up to hit him with turned out to be a snake."

State Police Say:

Youngsters at play are thinking principally of their fun. They run after balls into the street, guide their bicycles in a careless manner, and in many ways place themselves at the mercy of the driver. Aged persons, too, are living danger signals to the driver. They move slowly, and frequently have mental and physical infirmities which handicap them greatly. Be on the alert at all times, but especially for the very young and the very old. Give them a brake.

The morning session opened with the registration at 9:30 a. m., with Mrs. Daniel Fisher as the local conference chairman. Mrs. William Schuster, second vice-president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Temple Sisterhoods, presided. Invocation was given by Mrs. Iwan Gruen of New Castle.

Mrs. R. S. Rubenson, president of Temple Israel Sisterhood, welcomed members to the conference.

Presidential reports were given from the sisterhoods of Clearfield, Erie, Greensburg, Johnstown, Pittsburgh, Sharon, Uniontown and New Castle. This was followed by a discussion of the reports. The state board meeting was also reported.

Luncheon was served in the social rooms of the Temple at 12:30 by Mrs. William Cosel and her able committee. The tables were beautifully decorated with flowers and fruits of the season, the work of Mrs. Jack Conn and her committee. Mrs. Daniel Fisher presided at the luncheon. Dr. I. J. Gruen gave the invocation. A. Levine, president of Temple Israel, spoke to the group and, in conclusion, a lovely vocal solo was presented by Mrs. George Strehler.

Keynote of the afternoon sessions was "Sisterhood Specific." The topics of discussion were "Sisterhood Responsibility to Its Congregation and Congregational Life", "Sisterhood Responsibility to State and National," and "Sisterhood Responsibility to Society". The meeting adjourned with Mrs. William Cosel giving the closing prayer.

May Put Public Health In State On Career Basis

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—(INS)—Dr. Gilson C. Engel, president of the Pennsylvania "public health may be put on a professional career basis" when the legislature meets in January.

In a statement released in Philadelphia, Dr. Engel said both major political parties have endorsed proposed reforms in the state health department and pledged to put it on a professional basis.

"If this historic step does take place," he said, "it will be the first great field of public service so constituted in Pennsylvania.

"When the Democratic platform endorses the finding of a report made at the request of a Republican administration, we can have some hopes that a bipartisanship in the public health field has arrived.

"There is no room for a partisan position in public health.

"New appointees for every position from secretary down should meet high professional standards and a comprehensive training program should be set up to enable present health department personnel to meet these standards.

"Our state program should be of such high calibre as to attract and hold the best men in the public health service in Pennsylvania."

County Change To Help Some

Some Salaries To Be Raised

When Lawrence county goes into the fifth class, as it will when the census returns are certified, there will be some changes in the salary schedules for elected county offices.

Some of the offices will carry increased salaries, but oddly enough, some of them will remain at the same level as they are. In case of the sheriff, the changes are more marked than any other office.

The salaries of the judges will jump from $12,000 to $14,000 per year. The salary of the district attorney will go from $3850 to $5500. The county controller and commissioners will go to $4400 from the present $3300, although the past two years the salaries of these officers have been augmented by a $1000 expense allowance.

The salary provisions of the register and recorder's office are rather peculiar. If the job is merely the register of wills, the salary will be $5500; if he is also the clerk of the orphans' court. Where the jobs of register of wills and recorder of deeds are joined, as they are in Lawrence county, the salary will be $4400 instead of the present $3850. In addition the register and recorder gets certain commissions which in some years exceed the salary.

The coroner goes on a flat salary of $1650 in fifth class counties, which will be more than the commissioners average at the present time.

The county treasurer's salary goes to $5500 from the present $4400. Here also certain fees are paid amounting to about $1,000 per year or less.

The sheriff's office is the one where the most change is seen. Under the sixth class county setup the sheriff is also the keeper of the jail and his wife the matron of the jail. In addition a home is provided for the sheriff's family. The salary of the sheriff is $4400 by law. The salary of the jail matron is set by the county commissioners and is presently $2046 per year.

Under the fifth class arrangement the sheriff is not the keeper of the jail, this being under a prison board which is the county commissioners.

As usual the prothonotary and clerk of courts is left holding the bag. The salary remains at $4400, which is in actual fact less money than the office paid in 1925.

In 1923 the salary of the prothonotary and clerks of courts was set at $4,000. In those days county officials paid no income tax and a dollar bought more pigs' knuckles and sauerkraut than it does today.

In those days it was one of the three best jobs on the hill. As the years went by other offices were increased but not the prothonotary and clerk of courts. Several years ago the office did get a 10 per cent increase along with the other offices.

The prothontary and clerk of courts here is the clerk of the common pleas court, the clerk of the court of quarter sessions and oyer and terminer, clerk of the orphans' court. Where the offices are divided the salaries are: prothonotary $4400, clerk of quarter sessions and oyer and terminer court $3300, clerk of the orphans' court $3300. Here he does all these for one salary.

In a fifth class county the jury commissioners are on a salary of $275 per year instead of a per diem basis.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

They had a birthday celebration in the office of County Controller Andrew M. Dodds Thursday. Miss Stella Plonka, one of the aids in the office, became a voter, the day marking her 21st birthday.

Gifts and flowers were on one of the desks, and for refreshments there was apple cider. Mr. Dodds poured.

Whittemore And Lowe Open Met Season Here

Two talented pianists, Arthur Whittemore and Jack Lowe opened the Metropolitan Concert Guild season Wednesday night in the Cathedral in a two-piano program.

It was an opener that would have pleased any music lover and delighted those whose instrumental preference is the piano.

Technical Excellence, Plus

Pianists who mastered the mechanics of the piano are not uncommon. But to a technical excellence, Whittemore and Lowe brought that indefinable something which sets the artist apart from piano player. Call it soul if you will, but it was there last night. These young men play their instruments with more than their hands.

If we were inclined to be critical perhaps we might suggest that the first number Melody from "Orfeo" might have been moved to another spot to make room for a more heroic number.

But their presentation of Reger's Variations on a theme of J. S. Bach, P. 81 was artistry and their closing number Ravel's "La Valse" was done with understanding and skill.

For Just Folks

The two men had the good judgment to include one group of numbers in a lighter vein. Arlen's "That Old Black Magic" and that lovable, rowdy number from South Pacific, "Wonderful Guy" opened the second half.

Not that they played them in the style to which you are accustomed. They added a touch of musical salad dressing, and some variations that gave a new lilt and beauty to the numbers. These two were popular music in white tie and tails.

They were especially generous with their encores. At the half they played the lovely "Liebestraum" and at the close of the program played "Liebesfreud", Ravel's "Bolero", "Clair de Lune" and a catchy polka.

It was a delightful evening of music presented by a couple of young men who have not permitted their artistry to interfere with their human traits.

Unfortunately the crowd was not up to the usual standard. Perhaps it was the competition. A Legion banquet downstairs, some lady "rasslers" in the Arena, Charles Laughton up at Westminster and a few other attractions.

But for those 1250 or more in the Cathedral, Whittemore and Lowe were highly satisfying.

Several gifts were presented to the guest of honor.

Special guest of the evening was Mrs. Roy Merriman. Later, a tempting lunch was served by the hostess, aided by Mrs. Harvey Dungan. The halloween theme predominated in the decorations.

Devotions were also conducted by Mrs. McKnight. A social period was enjoyed. On November 30, Mrs. Mattie Badger, of 937 Adams street will entertain.

A man could lift about 275 tons with his teeth if he had proportionately the same strength in his jaws as an ant.

County WCTU Has Workshop

Program Presented Here On Thursday

"Enter Every Open Door with Temperance Truth" was the theme for Lawrence County W.C.T.U.'s workshop Thursday in the First Presbyterian church. Mrs. D. W. Nesbit was responsible for registration that preceded the morning session, while Mrs. Scott Kirk led group singing.

Miss Margaret Wilson presided. Mrs. Scott Munnell conducted devotions. Mrs. R. F. Henry responded to the greetings, given by Mrs. C. N. Moore, of the host church. Appropriate music was offered by Mrs. B. Byers.

Classes Conducted

Classes in alcohol and religious education, legislation, the "Union Signal," and temperance and missions were enthusiastically received when instruction was given by the county departmental directors. Mrs. Myrl Blythe is director of temperance and missions.

Mrs. R. F. Henry discussed the Y.T.C., while Mrs. T. E. McCreary spoke of the L.T.L., and Mrs. J. C. Pherson, the W.R.R. After Miss Margaret Peebles offered the noontide prayer, a box lunch was enjoyed with coffee being served by the Frances Willard union.

During the executive committee plans were completed for the Loyalty Luncheon in January.

Afternoon Session

Mrs. Floyd Thompson presided at the afternoon session, when Dr. J. Paul Graham led devotions.

Mrs. Andrew Calhoun, president of Beaver County W.C.T.U., spoke, using the workshop's theme. The speaker stated that Miss Smart, National Legislative director of the W.C.T.U., Washington, D. C., has suggested that letters be sent to President Truman. Requests should be made that ice cream making machines, soft drinks and milk be sent to the front for our soldiers.

Dr. W. A. Womer Speaks

Dr. W. A. Womer, Health Officer of New Castle, told of his trip to Stockholm, Sweden, in the interests of alcohol and traffic. He presented a chart with graphs to show the relation of traffic accidents to the drinking of alcohol beverages by drivers of motor vehicles or those responsible for the lives of others in traffic.

Dr. Womer, who also gave some of his impressions of socialized medicine in Britain, spoke of visiting Belgium, the Netherlands, Sweden and Norway. Special emphasis on the Stockholm Conference was placed upon traffic hazards and how to combat them.

Armistice Day Dinner Planned

Local Veterans To Have Annual Event

Local war veterans, regardless of what war they served in, will gather again on Armistice Day for the annual Armistice Day dinner which this year will be held in the dining room of Neshannock Post 315, VFW, at 126½ E. Washington street, Secretary Jimmy Fletcher announced today.

Attorney Walter Kieler, past commander of Post 315, is general chairman for this year's event and has named the following men as his aids: Orlando Lucidore Catholic War Veterans; Robert M. White, Jr., Marine Corps league; E. Gene Schweinsberg, American Legion, and Charles E. Allen, Post 522, VFW.

To Start At 5:30

The dinner will start promptly at 5:30 o'clock, in order to give the participants an opportunity to prepare for the Armistice Day parade during the evening. The ladies auxiliary of Post 315 will cook and serve the dinner, and it will be served at a nominal cost.

This dinner, which was started soon after the close of World War I, has become a sort of last man's club, and will be continued as long as there are any veterans living. It gives the men of all wars an opportunity to sit down and break bread together, and to recount their experiences in their own particular conflict.

Statistics show that people who receive expert driver education are involved in 40 to 60 per cent fewer accidents than others.

Statistics On Triplets Suffer Heavy Attack

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(INS)—Medical statistics show that triplets occur only once in 512,000 births, but the Washington area made the statistics look sick this week.

Wednesday Mrs. James Shaver 34, gave birth to triplets, her 11th 12th and 13th children, in Arlington hospital. Once before, in 1937 she had triplets, but they died in infancy. Wednesday's three girls all born in three minutes, are doing well, as is their mother.

The Arlington births are what upset the statistics. Last Monday the area got its share of triplets for several years when Mrs. Edward Evans delivered three of kind at her southwest Washington home.

"To Shake The Hand That"

QUEENS VILLAGE, N. Y., Oct. 27.—(INS)—Everybody in the 200 block on Hillside Avenue wants to shake the grimy little hand that shook the hand of President Harry S. Truman last Tuesday.

The hand belongs to Johnny McDermott, 8, of 212-49 Hillside Ave. It was lily white when it got lost in the big, grown-up handshake of the president early Tuesday morning as Mr. Truman took his usual constitutional stroll in this quiet neighborhood before going over to Flushing Meadow to address the General Assembly of the United Nations on its fifth anniversary.

Hasn't Washed Hand Since

"But I haven't washed my right hand since," Johnny explained and held out his tattle-tale gray paw for closer inspection. "I won't wash it since the president shook hands with me."

Johnny, who is a thin kid with Irish blue eyes, taffy colored hair and a quiet manner, examined the hand critically and said the presidential hand-shake had made him a kinda big-shot at the Immaculate Conception School, 178th Street and Wexford Terrace, Jamaica.

"All the boys at school want to shake hands with me," Johnny continued matter-of-factly. "And some grown folks, too. So I don't think I ought to wash my hand."

"He sure doesn't!" sighed his mother, Mrs. John McDermott, looking fondly at the son who is the neighborhood hero since he got up at dawn to meet the president, whose special train was parked on a railroad siding not far away.

Very Friendly Man

"I think he is a real nice man and very friendly," Johnny said of the president, "but he walks very fast."

Johnny had to make his short, thin legs go like pistons to keep up with the president, 58 years his senior, when Mr. Truman invited the little boy and his father, John McDermott Sr., a Queens bartender, to hike around the block with him.

"But even though he walks fast, I liked going around the block with him better than going on the airplane to Detroit with my father," Johnny added. Up to his encounter with the president, the biggest thing in Johnny's life had been that airplane ride, bigger even than going to see his hero, Jackie Robinson, and the Dodgers at Ebbets Field.

"My father takes me to baseball games and to football games and tells me about the president," Johnny enlarged. "I can't read the papers very good yet, so my father tells me about the president and what he does and how he gets to be president.

Real Nice To Us

"So when my father read that the president was coming here to make a speech and that he would be right near, I thought I would like to see him. So I just got up early and my father took me down to the train and the president was real nice to us.

"My father is a Democrat," explained this rather grave child, as if that accounted for everything, "and I am going to be a Democrat, too."

But Johnny is not going to be president when he grows up. It is all right for Mr. Truman to be president and Johnny guesses it is a nice job. But Johnny's ambition is to be a policeman and a mere presidential handshake cannot swerve him from that noble resolve.

As he sat in his plain, pleasant home, which he shares with his parents, three older sisters and a younger brother, Johnny opined that he would become a policeman as soon as he "studied and am out of college."

"There were lots of policemen with the president," Johnny added. He is still convinced that he would rather have shaken hands with President Truman than with Joe DiMaggio or Hopalong Cassidy, although he said "to tell the truth, I'd like to see them, too."

Johnny is in the third grade at school, and when I asked him what he liked best about it, he gave me a solemn one-word answer: "recess."

In this Johnny is probably not unique, but he is certainly the only little boy in the world who has a sure-fire excuse for not washing his hands these days when his parents insist.

New Castle Soldier In Korea Saves Wounded Pal

ROBERT HUDDLE

Some friends will "stick together" regardless of what happens!

Robert Huddle and Earl Mitchell, buddies through their school years, have had an experience that will cement their friendship for life.

Believing they might make the armed forces their life work, the youths enlisted in the army in January, 1948, and began their basic training together. They were fortunate enough to remain together throughout their three years in the service.

When the war in Korea commenced, the boys were sent with the famed 24th Infantry Division to Korea. The lads have always written several letters home to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Huddle, 412 West Grant street, and Mrs. Mary Mitchell, 319 West Falls street. Just recently letters were received from Bob and Earl and in what good friends they are.

Pfc. Mitchell wrote home and in part said, "You've probably heard that I was wounded twice. Now I am well and in the best of health. Bob was put in for the Silver Star for bringing me through enemy lines when I was shot." Perhaps them are facts which prove just hoping not to worry the folks, Cpl. Huddle wrote "Earl has some kind of rheumatism in his leg and it's hard for him to move around, so they sent him to the hospital. He may go to Japan."

Boys like these are indications of the loyalty and courage of the entire army, and with such youths on our side it won't be long until peace is again ours.

Indictments Are To Be Reported In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27. — (INS)—The federal grand jury probing rackets in the Philadelphia area was reported today to have prepared its first batch of indictments.

Although the nature of the indictments was not learned, it was believed some of them would be based on perjury by witnesses who appeared before the panel.

Meanwhile the federal probers entered a sparring session with the city over the question of getting access to the city's withholding tax records.

The city took the stand that the records are confidential, and if the federal government wants to inspect them, a court order will be necessary.

The investigators sought the records after learning that 271 gambling and numbers men had paid a total of $13,000 to compromise claims against more than $1,300,000 in illegal incomes.

The average American automobile today is scrapped after 120,000 miles, as compared to 25,000 miles in 1925.

Howard Hoschars Witness Hurricane

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hoschar, 517 Wildwood avenue, had an experience they will never forget!

In Miami, Florida, for a two week's vacation, the couple was right in the path of the recent hurricane in that state. Trees were uprooted, roofs of houses and buildings blown off, and there were no lights or telephones from Tuesday to Saturday of last week. The wind was so strong that it was difficult to stand up or walk.

No serious damage was done to the home in which the Hoschars were staying. However, the force of the wind blew open the door and scattered household articles about the rooms.

Public Service Division Has Best Chest Report

Awards for best reports at the third Community Chest report meeting, Thursday at noon at The Castleton hotel, went to the Public Service, Industry and Commercial divisions.

L. J. Lewis, chairman of the Public Service division, received an award for having the largest percentage of the division goal at the meeting. The Public Service division announced an additional $2,803 or 22 per cent of its $12,500 goal.

Awards Presented

Mr. Lewis presented the award to T. J. Foley, Public Utility chairman of the Public Service division. Mr. Foley's section has accounted for $5,645 of the division's $10,579 total.

R. J. Elliott and H. M. Fenati received awards for having a fine report in the Industrial division, and D. H. Treloar for having another good report in the Commercial division.

These four division heads rode in the New Castle Fire Department's ladder truck from The Castleton hotel to the Red Feather Indicator on the Diamond, where Mr. Lewis raised the feather to the $81,584 mark.

Homer D. Choate, campaign chairman, introduced Rev. T. J. Jones and Rev. G. S. Bennett to the more than 100 volunteer workers after the reports were given.

Rev. Bennett spoke a few words to the group and reminded the workers that now was when the hard work began. This last 36 per cent will be harder to round up than the other 64 per cent, he said, and only hard work by all of the workers will enable the chest to reach its $127,600 goal.

Says Eisenhower Not To Confer On Defense Pact Post

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 — A spokesman for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower declared that the general's arrival in Washington Saturday has no direct bearing on prospects that he may head the Atlantic Pact Defense Force in Europe.

Eisenhower's spokesman said it is "just a coincidence" that the five-star general is visiting the national capital on the day the defense ministers of the North Atlantic organization sit down to pass on the form of their unified force.

Reached at Cincinnati, the general's spokesman said Eisenhower does not plan to attend the Saturday session of the defense committee presided over by Gen. George C. Marshall, defense secretary. Similarly, a meeting with Marshall is not scheduled, but not ruled out.

To Meet Mrs. Eisenhower

The spokesman for "Ike," who preferred to remain anonymous, told International News Service in a telephone interview:

"The general is meeting Mrs. Eisenhower in Washington. That is why he is going there, and his current trip has been on the books for months. As he said in Indianapolis and elsewhere, he probably will see some of his old friends in the defense department. He usually does." Marshall's office also said the secretary has no plan as yet to confer with Eisenhower, now president of Columbia University.

It was pointed out that as a five-star general, "Ike" is on full pay and so-called "active duty" in the sense that he is subject to emergency assignment at any time.

Chiefs of staff of the pact nations, comprising the military committee, meet this afternoon again to finish their recommendations for the defense ministers.

Had No Idea Of Suicide; But Put On Show For People

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(INS)—Charles F. Krisel is a well-adjusted elevator repairman who has no thought of suicide.

But he believes in giving people a show if they ask for it.

He was sitting on the edge of a roof in downtown Washington when he noticed that his choice of a seat had attracted the attention of a number of government girls in a building across the street.

Unwilling to deprive the girls of a show, he assumed a despondent air and started writing notes. The cops came on the double to effect a rescue and went away empty handed when Krisel said he was only waiting for his partner to come up to the roof with some elevator parts.

Krisel promised not to look despondent on the edge of a roof again though.

To a person with normal hearing the ticking of an average watch can be heard from a distance of three feet.

Portersville Plans Project

Community Center Aim Of Residents

Feeling the definite need of a community center, athletic association and a volunteer fire department, residents of the Portersville area have set machinery in motion to realize their ambition which has often been discussed by the citizens of the community.

A town meeting of the residents was called for Wednesday at the new Naser building on route 19 with a good representation of the area present, to voice their opinions and tender ideas which would eventually make for a better district in which to live. William Brown was selected as acting chairman and directed the discussion and queries which took place during the highly interesting session.

Need Is Discussed

The group discussed the need for the community project at some length, broaching its various aspects and the cost of the same to the residents. After some discussion, a committee was chosen with various chairmen named to head the respective phases of the proposed project.

Glen Neiper was chosen to serve as chairman of the athletic committee; David Sickle and Richard Ault, local high students, volunteered to serve on the committee which will draw up plans for an athletic field to serve for all forms of sports.

Thursday evening, November 2 a second meeting of the area residents has been called to discuss future plans for the volunteer fire department. It is planned to have speakers from various communities who will relate their experiences in organization of their respective fire departments. All residents of Portersville are welcome and asked to attend this meeting with suggestions and ideas requested to be submitted at this time. Any suggestions for the community betterment project will also be welcomed.

COMMANDER OF LEGION SPEAKS

In closing, Commander McCracken praised the American Legion auxiliary for the splendid support it has given the Legion.

County Commander Ralph Little of Ellwood City presided and called upon District Commander R. Wayne Baird of Ellwood City to introduce the speaker. He then called upon Dennis E. Cain, as toastmaster, who introduced the various visiting Legion leaders Included was the commander and a delegation from Post 15 of Youngstown; Mrs. Evelyn Bailey, president of the Tri-County Council, Legion auxiliary, who pledged the continued support of the auxiliary; Past Commander Walter Alexander of Sharpsville and other commanders and leaders in the district.

Install New Officers

In closing, District Commander Baird installed the new county officers, in which he was assisted by District Adjutant Edward Rouse of Ellwood City.

The new county committee officers are: Commander, Sam Gibson of Mt. Jackson; first vice commander, Harvey G. Bintrim, New Castle; adjutant, William McKim; chaplain, Rev. Henry J. REPORT SOUTH KOREAN TROOPS FACE NEW FOE military advisers accompanied the Chinese Communists units from Manchuria into North Korea.

One war prisoner said North Korean army uniforms were issued to his unit before it crossed the Yalu into Korea eight days ago.

Possibility Some in Action

American intelligence officers, it was learned, submitted to U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters a report stating there is a "strong possibility that Chinese Communist forces now have been committed in Korea."

This was based on information from South Korean field commanders and their American military advisers and also on close interrogation of one of two war prisoners identified by ROK sources as Chinese. Red soldiers.

The prisoner was quoted as saying he was a member of a Chinese Red Army unit of 2,000 troops sent across the Yalu bridge from the Manchurian border city of Antung to Sinuiju in Korea on October 19.

The captured soldier, who spoke only Chinese, said further that he had been told 50,000 of China's Red troops crossed over into Korea on the same day — a week ago Thursday.

He was further told, the prisoner said, that the Chinese Red Army was prepared to send 600,000 troops into North Korea to balk an alleged American "plan" to "invade" China.

Up until late Friday higher American Headquarters officials in Korea and in Tokyo reserved comment on the South Korean and the U. S. Intelligence officers' statements concerning possible Chinese Communist intervention.

May Include Chinese

An Eighth Army spokesman's only comment was "there are indications that the enemy forces opposing our advance around Unsan include Chinese of a Korean unit."

He did not explain whether he was referring to regular Chinese Red soldiers disguised in North Korean uniforms and incorporated in the North Korean Army. American military officials previously have reported some Chinese serving in the North Korean Army, along with Koreans who had lived and were trained in Manchuria.

Headquarters acknowledged however that powerful Red forces, up to divisional strength, were counter-attacking ROK troops some 50 to 60 miles below the Yalu international boundary.

The ROK Sixth Division's Seventh Regiment, which made a flanking dash all the way up to the Manchurian border above Chosan Thursday, was cut off by enemy troops which swung across its rear to snap its communication lines.

Red Forces Exposed

But the breakthrough by the British Commonwealth troops beyond the Taeryong river at Pakchon exposed the west flank of the Red forces engaging the two Rok divisions.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Tokyo Headquarters spokesman estimated a remaining organized army of 20,000 North Korean troops was resisting the United Nations offensive toward Manchuria. He said another 15,000 Red troops were in isolated pockets to the rear.

The Suiho edifice is one of the world's largest dams. It provides power to Manchuria, Korea and even Soviet Siberia.

The statement by Maj. Gen. Yu Jae Heung regarding Chinese Red troops was reported by International News Service War Correspondent Lee Ferrero at 5:45 p. m. Friday (3:45 a. m. EST) in a dispatch from the ROK field headquarters town of Kunuri.

The dispatch quoted American military advisory officers, accompanying South Korean troops, as confirming the ROK general's assertion.

LONDON, Oct. 27. — (INS) — A Reuters dispatch from Hong Kong today quoted unconfirmed reports that Chinese Communist troops have withdrawn from advanced positions south of the Yalu river in northern Korean following the landing of American forces at Wonsan.

Rhode Island is the most densely-populated area under United States administration.

Arrest Man For Blasting Transmitters

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—(INS) The FBI announced the arrest of Herman Floyd Kinner, 38, of Wilmington, Ohio, a former mental patient, for the dynamiting of the Voice of America transmitters at Mason, Ohio, on Sept. 17.

When arrested at El Paso, Tex., the FBI said, Kinner admitted the dynamiting as well as the opening of the Pennsylvania Railroad main line switch near Wilberforce, Ohio, on Oct. 1.

The FBI said the open switch was discovered before it could cause a train wreck.

Has Criminal Record

According to the FBI, Kinner, a carpenter, has a criminal record dating back to 1934 and was confined on several occasions as a violent mental patient at the Military hospital at Camp Shelby, Miss.

The FBI said Kinner escaped from the Dayton State Hospital, where he was confined as a mental patient, in 1943.

Kinner was sought before his identification as a suspect in the dynamiting of the Voice of America transmitters. On Oct. 21, he is said to have written a letter to Sheriff Howard Botts, of Clinton County, Ohio, admitting that he "did the job."

The FBI said Kinner told special agents this morning that he placed an entire box of dynamite at an antenna base, lit the fuse and fled, "hearing voices all talking at the same time."

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said investigations of the blast at the government-owned transmitters showed Kinner to be one of a score of persons known to have purchased safety fuses from a Yellow Springs, Ohio, dealer.

Turning Out Autos At Record Rate

DETROIT, Oct. 27—(INS)—The auto industry is still turning out new cars at a record rate, despite dire predictions that sales will slump sharply because of recently-imposed credit controls.

Automotive News reported today that this week's production will make October the third best month in the history of the industry.

The Trade Journal estimated that 178,256 vehicles rolled or will roll off U. S. assembly lines this week, and that total output for October will hit 768,000 units. This figure has been exceeded only twice in industry history—in June and August of this year.

This week's estimated production includes 152,451 cars and 25,805 trucks. The overall figure is down some 3,000 units from last week, when 181,267 vehicles, including 155,191 cars and 26,076 trucks, were assembled.

The first horse was no bigger than a fox and had four toes on each foot.

Altoona Man Is Recommended For Bravery Award

ABOARD THE USS LEYTE OFF KOREA, Oct. 27.—(INS)—Daniel G. Cherry of Altoona, Pa., navy helicopter crewman, has been recommended for decoration for his rescue of a fighter pilot whose plane crashed into the sea on take-off.

The plane, piloted by Ensign Edward J. Tuma, Jr., of Minneapolis, lost flying speed after leaving the flight deck of the carrier Leyte October 13 and nose-dived into the water.

Lt. Alfred E. Monahan of Idaho, helicopted pilot, saw the crash and took off to hover over the wrecked plane. He lowered a rescue sling but Ensign Tuma was too weak to fasten himself into the harness.

Cherry, realizing the pilot could not save imself, seized a life raft and jumped from the helicopter into the sea.

The life raft failed to inflate but Cherry swam to the side of the dazed Tuma, and hoisted him into the sling.

Eight out of every 10 fires in United States national forests are made by man.

Red Hurricane Plays Final Home Game Of Season Here Tonight

Ten Gridders Will Appear On Home Soil Final Time

New Castle high school Red Hurricane football team will make its last appearance of the season against the home folks tonight, when it meets Erie Strong Vincent under the lights at Taggart stadium at 8 o'clock.

Making their final home appearances of their high school football careers will be John Sansone, Bucky Tate, Dante DeFalco, Ray Latsko, Adolph Bober, Sam Perrino, Anthony Marino, Lee Richeal, Paul Bucker, and Joe Csiszer.

Just how good a battle the visitors will give the Canes tonight is problematical. Most observers have installed New Castle as a three and four touchdown favorite.

Both teams use the single wing, with a T-formation play tossed in once in a while. Both also rely on power plays through the line, like most single wing combinations. Erie also uses the spread formation on occasions.

The visitors realize the reputation of the vaunted New Castle front wall and have been working hard all week on their passing attack, in what may be a successful effort to go over that wall.

The Red Hurricanes will line up almost the same as last week, with the right tackle position still somewhat in doubt. Ray Latsko will probably go at fullback on offense as last week, with John Roussos due to see a lot of action defensively.

Union Entertains Mercer Saturday

Union township high school entertains the Mercer Mustangs Saturday night under the lights at Union high field.

The Scotties are in bad physical condition for this game, with almost the entire first and second string backfields crippled up.

Latest to be added to the injury list was Bill Ahrens, who suffered a severe charley horse in practice early in the week.

Babe Zaharias Top Woman Golfer

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(INS)—Mildred (Babe) Didrikson Zaharias was named today as the outstanding woman golfer of 1950.

The award was announced by Fred Corcoran, editor of the official golf guide.

Mrs. Zaharias, track and field star of the 1932 Olympics, was the leading money winner among women golf pros this year with a total of $14,800. She scored a grand slam in major tournaments, winning the Titleholders', Weathervane, Western Open, Tam O'Shanter All-American and National Women's Open.

Junior Highs Meet Saturday

Benjamin Franklin and George Washington junior high schools will meet Saturday night at Taggart stadium in the annual battle for the city junior high school football championship.

Both teams go into this game undefeated and untied.

Favor Ellwood Over Ken High

New Kensington's Red Raiders will visit Lincoln high field in Ellwood tonight to match football strategy with the Ellwood Wolverines. Kickoff time is 8 o'clock.

The Wolverines are filling a previously open date with a losing but formidable opponent. The Kensters have two wins in seven outings, but have run against very strong opposition.

Ken high shaded Erie Tech and Greensburg, tied Johnstown, and suffered reverses against Duquesne, Central Catholic, Altoona and Har-Brack. No team holds more than a two-touchdown edge over them this season.

The blue and white boasts a little better record against slightly weaker opposition. Only Bradford and power laden Ambridge have won from Ellwood, but Vandergrift owns a tie against the Wolves. Erie Strong Vincent, Rochester, Sharon and Midland have all lost games to Ellwood.

Graziano Meets Janiro Tonight

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(INS)—Former middleweight champion Rocky Graziano is a 2-to-1 favorite to win tonight's ten-round Madison Square Garden main event from Tony Janiro.

The Youngstown, O., stylist held "The Rock" to a draw when they met seven months ago.

With both fighters seeking to break open a title shot in the confused 160-pound category, a crowd of 13,000, carrying a $70,000 gross gate, is expected to be on hand.

Since they met the last time, both men have gone undefeated. The 28-year-old Graziano has won five straight bouts by knockouts, while the 23-year-old Janiro has won three straight, all on decisions.

Four Counties Protest Two-Day Season On Does

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Game Commission office in Pittsburgh said four counties have handed in petitions to close the two-day doe season Nov. 27-28.

The commission said Pike, Centre, Clinton and Cameron were the first counties to turn in petitions signed by 51 per cent of the county's licensed hunters and farmers.

More than a score of counties began circulating petitions after the game commission decided on the two-day season.

Today is the last day for petitions to be handed in. The season on deer opens Nov. 27.

Baseball Meeting Called Saturday

There will be a meeting of all stockholders and board of directors of the New Castle Citizens' Baseball, Inc., at King Humbert hall, Division street, at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening.

The meeting has been called by Al Scarazzo, president, to sound the stockholders out on the 1951 Mid-Atlantic League season. There is a league meeting at Butler Sunday, with Elmer Daily.

Hysteria Reigns; Weidner, Von, Olsen-Combs Winners

Were P. T. Barnum yet alive and given a pencil with which to chronicle the Jefferson A. C.'s male and female wrestling show last night in The Arena, there is no question but that he would have vividly described it as "colossal, stupendous and spectacular," because the hippodromic performance was just that. Every man and woman mat addict departed from the Palace of falls fully satiated, their lust for excitement appeased.

Long before the first setto between Jack Vansky, 220, the "villain" of Kearney, N. J., and Billy Weidner, 200, Amarillo, Tex., was settled in 25 minutes, the mob of men and women patrons, of whom there were more than 1200, were frenzied by Vansky's mat atrocities. They howled themselves hoarse when Referee Mickie Solomon caught the "villain" rubbing peanut shells into Weidner's eyes to impair his vision, and disqualified Vansky.

And then came the Milwaukee German, six feet, six inches tall, Frederic Von Schalk, 245 pounds heavy, stolid of countenance, and bear-like in walk. He was trailed into the ring for the feature of the "Evening's Evenin'" by Kay Bell, 240, of Hollywood, attired in a vari-colored robe, and wearing curls which hung to his shoulders.

Hysteria Reigns

The hysteria which had a temporary halt between the bouts, was restored, and was increased by Von Schalk's roughness. At times, both were out of the ring, due to a kick, a shove, or a toss, the German being the aggressor.

They slipped into, and out of holds with the grace of a ballet dancer and at times, slugged each other a la Jack Dempsey. At one time during the bout the German slapped Referee George Martzo.

Von Schalk despite his stolid appearance was trickier than Bell, who replaces Vic Mature, the movie star, when he faces a dangerous role. Von out-tricked Bell and tripped him. Finally, both got the referee down beneath them on the floor, after which Von threw Bell through the ropes.

Bell Enraged

Enraged apparently, Bell stood up outside the ring, seized the German by the head and yanked him over the ropes. When he refused to release his hold on Von Schalk, who was on the floor outside the ring, Referee Martso disqualified Bell, which enraged the crowd. They cheered the loser and verbally exorciated the winner. The bout lasted 29 minutes.

And then came the "Four Eyefuls of Pulchritude," as P. T. Barnum would have characterized 'em, for the Tag match. They were facially handsome and formed beautifully. Their robes were gorgeous, proving that even girls who Bessemer high school football team got up off the floor Thursday night at Bessemer to slap down a determined Shenango team 32-19 and notch its third straight county B title.

The Cementers trailed 19-13 with only a few minutes remaining in the third quarter when they started rolling.

In less than 15 minutes they scored three touchdowns on one long touchdown drive and a series of Shenango mishaps.

Johnny Allen was the spark that put Shenango out in front and it was when Allen was injured and was forced to leave the game that Bessemer picked up momentum.

Johnny passed to left end Bill Alexander for the first Wildcat touchdown in the second quarter, scored the second himself on a 58-yard gallop around right end and was responsible for the third when he broke lose for 66 yards to take the ball down to the Bessemer one-yard line before he was hit.

Breaks Collar Bone

It was on this 66 yard run that Allen suffered a broken collar bone, when he was hit hard by Soldo and Commesso. Fred Duckworth plunged over on the next play.

Bessemer scored first by marching all the way down the field after taking the opening kickoff. Angelo Pezzuolo and Mooney Schaville did most of the carrying to take the ball from the Bessemer 40 down to the Shenango 21. From the 21 Schaville passed to end Jim Gagliana, who raced over for the score. Schaville's attempted pass for the extra point was not good.

Joe Commesso went around left end behind beautiful blocking from the 25-yard line all the way to the goal in that drive, but the play was called back for backfield in motion.

Shenango came right back and marched all the way from its 20 to the Bessemer goal line to tie the count, with Allen passing to Alexander from the seven for the TD early in the second quarter.

Allen had two runs of 20 and 17 yards in that drive, which included six first downs. Four different times in the drive Shenango first downs were called back because of penalties, but each time the Wildcats came right back.

With less than a minute remaining in the first half Allen faded back to pass, couldn't find a receiver, and raced down the right sidelines for the score to put Shenango ahead 12-6. Duckworth passed to Fedor for the extra point.

In the third quarter Bessemer scored twice and Shenango once in the last four minutes of the quarter. Angelo Pezzuolo scored the first of his four touchdowns from the nine-yard line after the Cementers blocked a Shenango punt and recovered the ball on the 14. Schaville passed to Gagliana for the extra point to tie the score 13-13.

Shenango scored two plays later, with Allen getting loose on the first play from scrimmage for his 66-yard run. Bessemer came right back and scored on five plays from scrimmage with Schaville and Pezzuolo doing most of the carrying.

Pezzuolo went through right tackle from the 13 for the touchdown on last play of the quarter.

In the fourth qurter Pezzuolo went through center from the nine after the Cementers had gained possession of the ball on the Shenango 16 after a bad pass from center on an attempted punt. Lupo went around left end for the point.

The Cementers scored again as time was running out when Livorine intercepted a Shenango pass on the Wildcat 28. Schaville made 20 yards around right end, six more through right tackle and another yard through center before Pezzuolo went over right guard for the score.

Bessemer	6	0	13	13—32
Shenango	0	13	6	0—19

Touchdowns: Gagliana, Pezzuolo 4, Alexander, Allen, Duckworth; Extra Points: Gagliana (pass), Lupo (end run), Fedor (pass).

Westminster Will Entertain Strong 'Covies' Saturday

Coach Mel Hetzler scheduled a light workout for the Westminster college eleven this afternoon as the Titans tapered off in preparation for their clash with Geneva college at 2 p.m. tomorrow in New Wilmington.

The contest will put Westminster's freshman triple-threat Bob Sistek against Covie passing specialist Walt Dwyer. Both will operate from the quarterback slot.

Both teams will depend upon shifty, fast elusive game intermingled with a strong passing attack. Al Righi, Covie halfback, and one of Geneva's ace ground gainers, is considered one of the best broken field runners in the district.

Starting in Westminster's backfield will be Sistek at quarterback, Carl Mantz and Larry Verone at halfback positions, and Paul Campbell at fullback. Dick Sylvester, veteran Titan back, will remain on the injured list with a bad ankle.

The Covies will start Dwyer, Righi, Archie Zarone at halfback, and Lyle Peluso at fullback.

The Covies have lost only one contest in intercollegiate competition to date. That was against a strong St. Vncent eleven.

HYSTERIA REIGNS AT WRESTLING SHOW

invade man's world of sports, like to vaunt their vanity on garments that capture the fancy of man and cause feminine patrons envy.

They were Cora Combs, 138, of Nashville and Ellen Olsen, 139, of Philadelphia, paired against June Byers, 148, of Houston, Tex., and Mars Bennett, 140, of Detroit. The two referees, Mickie Solomon and George Martzo were ready, the bell rang, and as it did the "Blonde fury" went into cyclonic action, tossing June Byers over her head. Pandemonium took place.

Everything Goes.

As one girl would become tired, and crawl toward the ropes, she would be relieved, relay-race fashion, by her partner. It was a rough-tough night for all. One minute one would be tossed out of the ring and the next one of the feminists would be locked in the ropes, slugged, knocked down and upon occasions the girls used their feet to kick an opponent.

In fact, the girls were rougher than the male grapplers. Their actions seemed to loan support the ancient adage that the female of the species is more dangerous than the men. The "gals" committed everything but mayhem.

The Tag was won by the team of Ellen Olsén and Cora Combs, who took two of three falls. The match lasted 30 minutes.

There'll be another "Rassling" show November 8, it was announced.

Notice
Notice is hereby given by the Mayor and Council of the City of New Castle, Pennsylvania, under the authority of an Act of Assembly of 25 June, 1947, P.L. 1145, as the same was amended by the Act of May 9, 1949, P.L. 898, and pursuant to the requirements of Section 2 of the said Act that it is the intention of the City of New Castle, Pennsylvania, to pass an Ordinance of said City to levy, assess and collect and to provide for the levying, assessment and collection of certain taxes on persons, transactions, occupations, privileges, subjects and persons property within the limits of the said City, for the fiscal year commencing on the first Monday of January, 1951 and ending on the first Monday of January, 1952, the substantial nature of which shall be as follows, to-wit:

A tax for general revenue purposes at the rate of ten per cent of the value thereof on all sales of admission to places of amusement within the City of New Castle, Pennsylvania from January 1, 1951 to December 31, 1951, inclusive, which rate of taxation expressed in dollars and cents, amounts to Ten ($10.00) Dollars on every One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars of such valuation and to Ten (10c) cents on every One ($1.00) Dollar of such valuation; to define places of amusement as herein specified, and to provide for the collection of such tax.

The reason which in the judgment of the Mayor and Council of the said City, necessitates the imposition of the tax is as follows, namely:

That it is estimated by the Council of the City of New Castle that the necessary expenses of the said City for 1951 will be at least $1,050,000.00, and that the total revenues from all sources other than from the tax now proposed to be levied on amusements will not be more than $935,000.00. It is therefore estimated that an additional amount not less than $115,000.00 will be necessary to meet the operating expenses of the City of New Castle for the fiscal year of 1951, which is more than the amount that is proposed or expected to be raised by the levy on amusements, of which this is a notice.

That the amount of revenue estimated to be derived from the tax, of which this is a notice, is $100,000.00.

The said tax shall apply to all sales of admission to places of amusement, except such sales as are exempt by General Act of the General Assembly, exempting property from taxation, under the provisions of Article IX, Section 1 of the Constitution of this Commonwealth, as property used for public purposes, actual places of religious worship, places of burial not used or held for private or corporate profit, institutions of purely public charity, and real and personal property owned, occupied and used by any branch, post, or camp of honorably discharged soldiers, sailors and marines.

The said taxes shall be levied and assessed by the Receiver of Taxes of the City of New Castle, according to the provisions of Ordinance No. 5008, passed July 6, 1948.

An appropriate Ordinance providing for the levying and imposition and collection of the said taxes will be introduced into the Council of the City of New Castle and called up for final passage at a meeting of the Council of the said City to be held on Monday morning, November 20, 1950. The said Ordinance shall go into effect thirty (30) days after its final passage and within that 30 days, taxpayers, representing 25% or more of the total valuation of real estate in the City of New Castle as assessed for taxation purposes, or taxpayers of the said City not less than 25 in number aggrieved by the Ordinance, shall have the right to appeal therefrom to the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lawrence County upon giving bond with sufficient security in the amount of $500.00 approved by the Court, to prosecute the appeal with effect and for the payment of costs.

Observation Balloon Comes Down Near City

State police report that an observation balloon, and not a parachuting man came down in Flaherty field, or East Brook vicinity, at 12:05 p. m. Monday.

According to the aeronautical officer of the State police, no parachutists landed, but he is satisfied it was an observation balloon.

What appeared to be a parachutist was noticed by Perry McFarland, city fireman and C. J. Smith, Croton avenue.

McFarland was in the vicinity of the Croton Avenue school when both he and Smith, through a haze seen what appeared to be a man dangling from an open parachute.

New York Stocks

Some Recovery In Stock Market

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(INS)—The stock market staged a selective recovery today following yesterday's wide-open break.

Strong buying support at the opening absorbed overnight selling orders without important price changes. Thereafter, demand lifted many of the pivotal leaders well above previous closings.

Bethlehem Steel responded to the announcement of a $2 common dividend, with a rise of 1⅜ points to 46¾. Previously, the company had paid 75 cents quarterly. Other ground-gainers included Chrysler up ¾ at 78¼, General Motors up ⅜ at 50½, and U. S. Steel up ⅝ at 40¾.

Standard of New Jersey advanced ½ to 85¼ in the oils, but Ohio Oil sagged ⅜ to 38⅝.

The bond market was mixed with many rail issues under further pressure.

Commodities were higher. Wheat was up ¾ of a cent a bushel, corn was up 1¼ cents, and cotton rose $1.50 a bale.

New Passport Problem For U.S. Officials

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The state department is confronted with the problem of passing on passport applications of United States communists who have been invited to the Red-propaganda second world peace conference in England.

The congress, a rallying point of world communism, is to be held in Sheffield on Nov. 14. The last congress was in Warsaw a year ago.

Thus far the department has received only one application from a known communist for a passport to attend the meeting. He is a comparative unknown, in contrast to Paul Robeson, noted Negro singer and acknowledged Red, who was denied a passport recently because it was "not in the best interests of the U. S."

"Test" Application

The apparent "test" application is going the rounds of the state department's advisors for an opinion. Whether it will be acted on in time to permit departure before Nov. 14 is uncertain.

The situation is complicated by the fact that communists are required to register with the justice department under the new internal security law. Announced party policy is to defy the act and not register.

This embarrasses the state department. It would hesitate to issue a passport to an unregistered communist who might use his leave of absence from the U. S. to slip behind the iron curtain.

In addition, it will be difficult for the department to determine with any certainty all the communists who might apply for the department to determine with any certainty all the communists who might apply for travel abroad.

A third factor is the possible desirability of unearthing the identity of hitherto unknown communists who might show up at the Sheffield meeting.

Some observers believe that better known communists will not apply for passports until disposition of the present case. In that way the remaining 99 could find out whether it is safe to stick their necks out.

Says Manpower To Be Bottleneck

CHICAGO, Oct. 27—(INS)—C. E. Wilson, president of the General Motors Corp., said Thursday the most dangerous bottleneck in the nation's military preparedness program is going to be manpower and advocated extension of the normal work week from 40 to 45 hours.

Wilson told a meeting of the American Society of Metals in Chicago that military weapons are not designed, as are consumer goods, for mass production.

During the last war, he explained, General Motors, for instance, found that it "took only one quarter as much steel to keep a war production worker employed as it did to keep an automobile worker employed prewar." He added:

"If these observations apply generally, and I am sure they do, the real shortage will be manpower, assuming we go ahead with a big military program.

"This means the only way we can have this big military program and at the same time have an ample supply of consumer goods is to work more efficiently. Since efficiency cannot be improved suddenly we must work somewhat longer hours . . . in other words, temporarily we should increase the average work week to as much as 45 hours."
